For a good, solid, ably conducted paper, which thoroughly discusses the money question from a silver standpoint, there is no paper in this country which outranks The American, published and edited by Warton Barker, one of the most thoroughly equipped financial writers in this or any other country. His paper is an educator in the full sense, and is doing splendid work for the cause of bimetallism notwithstanding the fact that it is published in Philadelphia, one of the hotbeds of goldism.

Frank McDonnell was brought to the city morgue in Boston the other day for dead. But after spending a little while there he didn't like surroundings, and very much to the surprise of the half dozen doctors who pronounced him dead got up, frisked around the room and went back to work. A brick had fallen on his head from the top of a six-story house and took him by surprise, but the brick was more "broke up" than he was.

Li Hung Chang is quoted as being disgusted with the way Americans are running wild over the bicycle, when they had the bicycle in China 2,300 years before the Christian era. But the girls and the young married women got so stuck on it that the men couldn't do anything with them and the bicycle was abolished by law, and has been out in the wood-shed ever since.

FIREMEN PROTEST.

WILL DISBAND IF APPROPRIATIONS ARE NOT INCREASED.

Formal Notification Given the Board of Aldermen—Communication Referred to the Fire Committee—Other Matters Before the Board.

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held last night at 8 15 o'clock. Present, Mayor Wright and Aldermen Norwood, Green, Keith, Walker, Hewlett, Benson and Twining.

After calling the meeting to order, Mayor Wright stated that Dr. Geo. G. Thomas was present and would like to introduce a model sanitary ordinance prepared by Drs. Thomas and McMillan. Dr. Thomas after explaining the nature of the new ordinance, presented it to the Board for action.

On motion of Alderman Hewlett, seconded by Alderman Twining, the ordinance was adopted.

The ordinance provides for a Local Board of Health to consist of the Mayor, the City Superintendent of Health, two licensed physicians and a layman, not a member of the Board of Aldermen.

Mayor Wright appointed as members of this board, Drs. Geo. G. Thomas and Frank Russell, and Mr. W. H. Chadbourn. For preparing the ordinance, Mayor Wright thanked Drs. Thomas and McMillan, on behalf of the Board.

Permission to erect dwellings, stables sheds, etc., was granted to a number of people.

A copy of the appropriations for the fiscal year was received from the Board of Audit and Finance.

A communication received from Police Officer Sutton asking that he be reimbursed $18.35, court cost, was read and not approved.

Several applications for the positions of policemen, health officers, etc., were received.

A communication from Mr. L. R. Mason asking that he be reimbursed $18.25, paid on uniform, was read and not approved.

The monthly report of Chief of Fire Department Chas. Schnibben was read and ordered filed.

The bids of Col. Roger Moore, Jas. T. Riley and French Bros. for furnishing the city with lime, brick, etc., sent back by the Board of Audit and Finance, were referred back to the bidders.

A communication was received from the local Board of Underwriters, Col. Walker Taylor and Messrs. W. M. Atkinson, J. H. Bostwright and Frank H. Stedman. The communication was to the effect that unless the defect in the fire alarm system was remedied with all possible dispatch that the reduction made in the insurance rate and premium on account of the said system would be rescinded, which would mean as to insurance that Wilmington would be rated in the third class, an increase in rate and premium of 100 per cent. on brick buildings and contents, and 66⅔ per cent. increase on frame buildings and contents; that if the Fire Department was not kept up to its present state of efficiency Wilmington would be rated in the fourth class.

The following communication, presented by a committee consisting of Messrs. Robt. H. Northrop, E. G. Parmele, T. J. Gore and Valentine Howe (colored) was read:

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 14, 1897.

To the Honorables the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN—We the undersigned members of committees representing, by instruction, The Wilmington Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, The Fifth Ward Hook and Ladder Co., The Cape Fear Engine Co. No. 3, The Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Co. No. 1, desire to make the following statement:

1st. That the appropriations made for the present fiscal year commencing April 1st, 1897, for the companies above mentioned are not sufficient to defray the expenses of the same.

2d. That the amounts heretofore allowed by the city, only when added to the fines and monthly tax collected from the individual members, barely paid the actual expenses of our respective companies.

3d. That this is a volunteer department.

4th. That its members do not receive any compensation for their services.

5th. That they supply their own uniforms, furnish their halls and pay for the lightning and heating of the same.

6th. That the money appropriated by the city is expended by us judiciously and with a view of keeping the efficiency of the department up to the highest possible standard.

7th. That we cannot consent to continue as fire organizations unless the appropriations are increased to what they were for the past fiscal year.

8th. That the Fifth Ward Hook and Ladder Company's case is worse than the others, in that it has never received an appropriation sufficient to pay its expenses, but has maintained its organization by heavily taxing its members. We request that the appropriation for this company be made $490 per annum.

9th. That we respectfully request that you give this subject your earliest consideration.

The special committee which presents this communication is instructed to furnish any information in regard to our expenses which you may desire to have; and further, to wait upon his honor, the Mayor, at his office at 12 m. on the 20th inst. for your reply and immediately report same to whole committee.

Respectfully,

[Signed] Robt. H. Northrop, W. M. Atkinson and Jno. R. Williams, of Wil. H. & L. Co. No. 1; Thos. J. Gore, W. F. Ketcham and C. C. Parker, of Fifth Ward H. & L. Co.; E. G. Parmele, W. C. VonGlahn and H. T. Walsh, of Wil. F. E. Co. No. 1; Valentine Howe, Wm. H. Cotton, Jr., and Robert Simmons, of C. F. Co.

On motion, both communications were referred to the Fire Committee.

A large delegation from the different fire companies together with a delegation from the Local Board of Underwriters, were present during the meeting.

The April report of City Clerk and Treasurer Rice, showing a balance last return of $11,859.75, receipts $9,767.10, and disbursements $9,434 28, was read and ordered filed.

The meeting at 10 o'clock adjourned. Before adjournment, however, one of the aldermen made a motion in a subdued tone that Jno. E. Taylor be elected Assistant City Clerk and Treasurer, but several "funny" ejaculations escaped several of the others, and the aldermen did not press his motion.

WHEELS IN HIS HEAD.

GERMAN CITIZEN WANTS GOVERNOR RUSSELL TO CALL OUT MILITIA.

The Glass-Hart Scandal—Appointments for the Deaf and Dumb Institution—Raleigh's New Electric Light System—Brotherhood of St. Andrew in Convention.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., May 14.

Letters were received here to-day from Mrs. George H. Glass and Henry Hart, denying absolutely the statement given out by Mr. Glass' attorney to the effect that they had eloped. Mrs. Glass makes counter charges against her husband, and the matter promises to be very thoroughly aired before it is ended. Mrs. Glass has been at her home with her parents, so her sister writes.

It is understood that Gov. Russell will appoint Capt. W. H. Day a director of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, to succeed K. W. Merritt. It is further stated that Dr. James McKee will be elected physician to the institution.

Governor Russell this morning appointed Mr. Albert Johnson keeper of weights and measures, to succeed Mr. J. C. S. Lumsden. Mr. Johnson is the oldest living engineer, being now in his 93rd year. He is said to be the oldest man ever appointed to office. The salary is $100 per year.

It is said that a movement is on foot to elect Jno. C. Scarborough superintendent of the city schools. The Board of Aldermen elect two school committeemen at the next meeting.

A German from Louisburg came here to-day for the purpose of getting the Governor to call out the militia for the purpose of protecting him. He says his life is in danger and that he has notified the German ambassador at Washington. The German citizen is thought to have a full set of wheels in his head.

The city was lighted last night for the first time under the new system. Electric lights have been placed at every corner in the heart of the city. Gas will be used on the outskirts. The new lights are very satisfactory.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew convened in annual session this evening at 8 o'clock.

The Atlantic Hotel at Morehead will open next week. A number of attaches and employes left to-day to take positions.

[Special Star Telegram.]

The resolution offered by Richard H. Battle in the Diocesan Convention to allow women to vote in all parochial elections was defeated. Bishop Cheshire spoke vigorously against the resolution.

The convention adjourned.

C. J. Harris, A. & M. College student, died this morning.

MISSING LETTER FOUND.

The Case Against Postoffice Clerk Jno. W. Moore Not Pressed.

District Attorney C. B. Aycock, of the United States District Court, entered a nol pros in the case of Jno. W. Moore, colored, charged with embezzling money from the mails. The letter which Moore was charged with stealing turned up last Sunday, May 9th, at the postoffice in Marion, S. C., with its contents intact, and consequently in the United States Court yesterday a nol pros was entered in the case against Moore.

The affair was mysterious enough before, but now it is doubly so, for how a letter mailed in this city May 1st, should in some unaccountable manner turn up in Marion, S. C., nine days afterwards, after a most diligent search had been made for it, is certainly of a mysterious nature. The letter arrived in Marion Sunday on a train from the South. The letter bears only one postage mark, that of Wilmington, May 1st, but written on the face is the word "missent."

Postoffice Inspector Gregory will arrive in the city this morning and probably he will be able to adjust matters.

The Morning Star.

By WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 15, 1897

GETTING INTO A TANGLE.

Judging from the expressions of dissatisfaction, amounting sometimes to disgust, at the manipulation of the Dingley bill by the Senate committee, the prospects are good for a first class racket among the Republican statesmen.

The sugar schedule doesn't suit the sugar cane growers, and they will have their representatives in Washington to fight that.

The wool schedule doesn't suit the Ohio wool men, and they will have their representatives in Washington to fight that.

The tax on hides doesn't suit the tanners and the shoemakers and they will have their representatives in Washington to fight that.

The increase in the tax on beer doesn't suit the brewers and they will have their representatives in Washington to fight that.

This puts the friends of the measure in an embarrassing position. The Senate is so close that it will require every Republican vote to carry through any kind of a tariff. They can't afford to lose a vote. There are ominous threats by the Senators, and members of the House who represent these protestors, of refusing to vote for the bill unless these protests be considered. The need of a vote to make a certainty for any kind of a bill caused the surrender to Senator Jones, of Nevada, and the surrender to him on the terms he offered has arrayed antagonism in other quarters which prove embarrassing and may prove dangerous.

If the conflict of sentiment was over only one or two things combinations might be formed to make opposition less formidable, but it extends to several, all commanding a large constituency representing a great deal of money, which will be freely used if need be and the opportunity offer. We do not mean in the direct purchase of votes, although they would not be above that in an emergency, but in various other ways that lobbyists have of making their presence felt. Speaking of the sugar schedule, the Washington Star a few days ago, which may have been based on interviews with Republican members of the House, says:

"The sugar trust people, with all their combinations, open and secret, are working to their utmost to maintain the Senate finance sugar schedule and the abrogation of the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty. There is no question about the fact that the striking out of the exemption clause with respect to Hawaiian imports amounts to an abrogation of the treaty. The striking out of this clause appears in the nature of a trick. When it was proposed in the committee to strike the clause out it was argued that the action amounted to no more than leaving the question to be settled independently in the Senate."

* * * * * * *

"The iniquity of the whole sugar trust scheme is dawning upon Congress. It is doubted whether their propositions, now that the facts are coming out, will be able to get even through the Senate. It is thought that even some of those favorable to the trust will not have the hardihood to face the prospects of scandal. Experts who have been studying the Senate schedule find it practically impossible to dig out all there is in it for the trust, but they find enough to condemn the whole thing. The very best available figures on the subject prove that the Senate compound duties result in, at least, doubling the differential duty carried by the Dingley bill, or even by the present law, which gives the trust the benefit of the ad valorem in addition to the specific ½. The best tariff expert at the Capitol states the differential duty in the Senate bill at about ¾ of a cent.

* * * * * * *

"It may be stated as practically a certainty that the House will never agree to this schedule, and, it is not believed that the Senate will stand out for it. The ad valorem duties are in the interest of under-valuation of the raw sugars and of further value to the trust to increase the amount of the differential between the raw and the refined sugar. The ad valorem feature of the present law, it is calculated, involves this country in the loss of about $17,000,000 of revenue each year, through undervaluations. It appears that, directly and indirectly, the trust could get about anything desired by them through the operation of the Senate bill.

It closes thus:

"The best information is that the abrogation of the Hawaiian treaty, the Senate sugar schedule and the schedule reducing duties on the grades of wool grown in this country and increasing the duty on carpet wool can never be got through the House."

We do not think the Republican Senators expect it to pass the House as it it goes from the Senate, but expect to patch up some sort of a compromise in the conference that will be held over it.

There is one thing, however, in this business on which there is a pretty general agreement even among Republicans, and that is that the Senate made a clear surrender to the Sugar Trust, and it will be remembered that the Senators who made this surrender were Republican Senators, for the Democrats have had nothing to do with the manipulation of this tariff bill. It is a Republican job throughout, for which they and only they are responsible. In the last campaign the Republican stumpers and organs vocalized much indignation at the grip the Trusts got on the Senate when the combination of a few Democratic Senators prevented putting lower duties on sugar, putting coal on the free list, &c., which President Cleveland denounced as an infamous betrayal of the people. Will it not be the turn of the Democratic stumpers and papers in the next campaign to return the compliment by quoting some Republican comments on the Republican majority of the Senate, as they have knuckled to combinations or special interests? The difference is that four Democratic Senators surrendered to these when the Wilson bill was before the Senate, while now practically the Republican majority surrenders to them.

When there has been a refusal to surrender the refusal has not been in a general way or on a broad principle, but only because a surrender meant a surrender of some particular interest which they represented. The fight is not on principle at all but on interest, as in the case of Senators Hoar and Lodge, who are going to fight the tax on hides not because they are opposed taxing hides but because taxing hides may interfere with and lower the profits of those of their constituents who are engaged in making leather and shoes. The effect on the people at large of taxing hides had no weight with them. They were looking nearer home and were concerned only about their leather-working constituents.

And so with the opposition to the wool schedule. The tax the Senate proposes isn't high enough to please the wool men, who dictated the House figures, and it is these the fighters are looking after, not the people who use woollen fabrics. And so with the sugar schedule, which in benefitting the trusts militates against the cane growers. If it had benefitted both there would have been no complaint from them. And so with the beer tax, which will be opposed not from any objection to taxing beer but because it is feared that this will antagonize German-American Republicans and lose the party some votes in coming elections. If it were not for this there would be no opposition to a protest against the beer tax.

Take it all in all, selfishness is conspicuously developed in this bill and in the Republican opposition to some of the schedules, which is getting them pretty badly mixed up among themselves.

MINOR MENTION.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, is a very blunt man and when he has anything to say he doesn't stand much on ceremony nor on the particular phraseology he uses. For a few days past the Senate has been exercising itself over the question as to what it will do in the case of broker Chapman, of New York, who some time ago refused to answer some questions put to him by a Senate investigating committee in reference to the Sugar Trust, and was adjudged guilty of contempt. He appealed to the courts, where the case went against him and the question now is what will they do with Chapman. They can punish him, but he is a very small potato in the hill where there are a good many big potatoes which can be as easily reached if they want to get them as broker Chapman. That is the view that Senator Tillman took of it when in his remarks, Thursday, he asked why they wasted time in immolating Chapman when Hevemeyer was within reach and could be caught in the same dragnet that caught Chapman, and followed this up by quoting the charge published in the press that three Senators, acting on the inside knowledge they had of the duties that would be put on sugar by the new tariff, went into the stock market, through their brokers bought sugar stock when it was selling at 115, its lowest figures and in a few days sold at 118, making $30,000 clear by the deal, a dead sure thing, as they had information which other stock dealers did not have. Senator Tillman, while recognizing the fact that an investigation of similar charges when the Wilson bill was before the Senate, proved a fizzle because they couldn't get any witnesses to testify as to who the speculating Senators were, still asks if the Senate means business, whether it wouldn't compost more with the eternal fitness of things to find out who these thrifty Senators are, than to spend time jumping on a New York stock broker who was simply doing business in the usual way, and then had the grit to refuse to give away the men he did business for.

It begins to look as if some positive action may soon be taken by this Government in the matter of the recognition of Cuban belligerency. It will be noted that even among the most aggressive friends of recognition and the administration there is apparently a better understanding and more harmonious action than there was during the previous administration. The information asked for is freely given, and there does not seem to be any disposition on the part of the State Department to withhold any papers in its possession, and consequently the Senate has a better knowledge of the actual situation from an official standpoint. The President seems disposed to act in concert with Congress when the facts in his possession will warrant his doing so, at least that is the inference from the declarations of Senators, who represent the administration and are supposed to be in close touch with it, and this is the opinion that the friends of Cuba in the Senate seem to entertain, which will account for the willingness they show to comply with requests made by the representatives of the Administration. Even Senator Morgan, while not showing the slightest diminution of zeal, evinces a less pugnacious and more conciliatory spirit, which gives ground for the opinion that he believes the prospects are encouraging for action and that nothing can be lost by going slow. The facts as they are being presented now are fortifying the friends of the struggling Cubans in the valorous fight they have been making for them in the Senate, a fight in which there is now reason to believe they may be successful.

The cost of labor, as between this country and other countries, is one of the standing frauds upon which the claim for tariff protection is made by American manufacturers and other beneficiaries of protection. Sometimes there is a material difference in wages, the wages being higher in this than in other countries, but more frequently the difference is so little as to amount practically to nothing. We say this is a fraud, for while there may be a difference in wages in favor of other countries, when it comes to the actual cost of production (and that should be the test), the advantage may be in favor of the American manufacturer. An illustration of this is given in a report by the U. S. Commissioner of Labor, Carroll D. Wright, on the cost of producing lumber in this country and in Canada, which is interesting in view of the fact that American lumbermen are asking for more protection from the lumbermen of Canada. According to Mr. Wright the cost of labor in Canada is $1 41 a day, compared with $1.71 in this country, a difference of 30 cents in favor of the Canadian lumberman, but when it comes to the cost of getting out the lumber it costs the Canadian $1.23 per thousand feet, compared with 91 cents which it costs his American competitor, so that the difference in the actual cost of labor doesn't count, American machinery far offsetting that. What is true of lumber is true of many other industries which ask for more protection than they now have, and it goes to show what an arrant fraud this cost of labor pretext is.

PASSING THE WORD.

"It was ten years ago in November," said the old lake sailor. "We were bound for Buffalo with lumber from Michigan and had just got clear of the Limekilns and out into Lake Erie when I saw it was going to blow. It was about the time of year when we get 'em good, and I knew that the tow would get a shaking up before we got under the breakwater at Buffalo.

"There were four barges in tow of an old steam barge that could hardly take care of herself in the best of weather. Astern of the steam barge was the McDougal, a big scow that could carry a bigger deck load, stand more sea and steer easier than anything I ever saw. We were next. I was on the Buckout; then came the Betts and last the Norris.

"Well, the gale came, as I expected, and right square after us. We got clear of Point Pelee and well out in the lake by daylight, and the steam barge chocked down for fear of breaking the towline.

"The old scow ahead of us swashed about like a raft, but roll she would not. But the box I was in, the Buckout, began her acrobatic performance early. She would sheer off till a sea caught her under the quarter, and then she would try to roll way over like a horse, and then she'd dive and then get up and rear. We would go down between seas, and the tow posts would creak and groan from the strain of the weight of the barges behind the sea astern. Then we would come up with a slack line and see the tow diving and sheering below us. Then we would go down again, and the slack of the line would come up with a swish and a snap, which told us that the captain of the steam barge knew what he was doing when he chocked for fear of parting the tow.

"Well, we dove and plowed and sheered and rolled and jumped till afternoon before anything of interest happened. It was about 2 o'clock, when I heard some one astern shouting, 'Buckout, ahoy-y-y!' I called the captain, a little, dried up, flannel mouthed Irishman, to answer the hail.

"'Phot do thot crazy Frenchman want?' he asked.

"I told him I had no idea, and he came on deck and stood, with one hand on the tow post to hold himself from going overboard, till he learned.

"Again came the hail from astern.

"'Hello!' shouted the Irishman in answer.

"'Pass de word,' came from the Betts.

"'All roight.'

"Then came a lot of sounds in broken Canadian French, which made the Irishman say: 'Would yez listen to thot now? Phot the divil is he troin to say?' Then he howled: 'Phot do yez say? Talk United States.'

"Then we heard it: 'The Betts, she's waterlog. Pass de word to de cap-i-tan to pull hunder Long Point.'

"The Irishman went forward and hailed the McDougal. The captain of that craft happened to be a Swede.

"'Wot-a you want?' he called in answer to the hail.

"'Pass the woord!'

"'Ole a-right. Wot-a you say?'

"Then the Irishman mixed his brogue and the French-Canadian dialect and the information that Betts was waterlogged and the wish of the crew that the steam barge would pull under Long Point into one mass of noise and cast it forth upon the water.

"There was a short silence, and then came back the maddening refrain, 'A-wot a-you say?'

"The Irishman walked the deck and cursed so that every syllable could have been heard to the steam barge, but when he at last tried to convey the information concerning the misfortune of the Betts he was answered by, 'I bear you a-swoar, but wot-a you say?'

"Then the Irishman cut it short.

"'Yo ould Sowegian, Oi said thot the Betts was watherlogged. Can yez understand thot?'

"'Yaas.'

"And they want the ould man to pull under Long Point.

"'Ole aright,' came back the answer, and the fair haired descendant of the Norsemen went forward to pass the word to the steam barge.

"In a little while the Swede again hailed us, and the Irishman went forward. The Swede's voice was good, and I could hear every syllable distinctly.

"'The ole-a man says to tell the captain of the Betts to a-go to h—l!'

"The Irishman came aft and passed the comforting message to the Betts. 'Thot Frenchman is crazy,' said the Irishman by way of comment. 'Sure, he should know thot to trol to pull this tow off into the troughs of the sea would break it up in a second.'

"The Betts dove more deeply and sheered worse as the hours went by. Twice the Frenchman induced the Irishman to pass the word that the Betts was sinking, and the same stereotyped reply came back regarding where the captain of the Betts could go if he didn't like the way the steam barge was towing him.

"It was about 4 o'clock, and everybody was aft watching for the line to part, when the Betts took a long, rolling, lazy sheer, and a cloud of mist half way between us told us the Betts was adrift. The crew, huddled together on the house, made a run for the rigging, and she broached to in the troughs of the sea. When she came out of the first sea, the deckload was gone, but the crew was safe half way between rail and trucks. The Norris, astern, had cut adrift from her at once, the line had parted and a little mutton leg sail was run up. Under this she came on, passed the tow and beat it to Buffalo by three hours.

"We got there in the morning, and at about noon the Betts was sighted wallowing along in the troughs. No tug would go out, and we watched her drift toward the breakwater. Every third sea would completely cover her decks, and she rolled like a drifting log. Everybody, including the woman cook, was lashed to the rigging, and when she eventually got within reach of the tugs there was not one of them had strength enough to take a line. The tugs managed to get her before she struck and towed her under the breakwater. No one died or was hurt. And every one of that crew knew that had the tow barge attempted to pull under Long Point there would have been four waterlogged barges drifting into Buffalo instead of one.

"Of course it looked as if some one would be drowned. And there was nothing to laugh at, but I think I laughed more and harder listening to that Frenchman, Irishman and Swede cursing each other and trying to pass the word than I ever have before or since."—Paul Armstrong in Chicago Herald.

Selecting Photographs.

In selecting photographs for wall decoration a few well chosen large photographs are better than a number of little ones, if selected with a definite purpose. The decorative effect of a large framed photograph is nearly always enhanced by putting it under yellow instead of ordinary glass. It should be remembered, too, that simple wooden moldings are the best settings for such pictures. Gilt frames should be reserved for paintings in oil, water color or pastel or facsimiles of them. There are numerous photographs on a scale to show every detail of the original paintings they represent. For the parlor or dining room of a private house a selection might be made from the many beautifully toned prints which illustrate the works of the great masters of painting.

Laura Bridgeman was the most remarkable example of the patience and tact requisite in the education of blind and deaf mutes. It is said that at the beginning of her mental training one lesson was given her over 500 times before she finally comprehended it.

I have lived to know that the great secret of human happiness is this—never suffer your energies to stagnate.—Adam Clark.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison, of Worthington Ind., "Sun" writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Consumption and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 3025 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 20 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." MRS. ANNA PETERSON, Latimer, Kansas.

The Best

1897 MODEL

BICYCLE.

Your Choice of Any of the Highest Grade $100.00 Bicycles, 1897 Model, Free of Cost by Using Some of Your Spare Moments.

The great strides made by THE NEW YORK TIMES within the last few months form a notable chapter in American journalism. During a period of general business depression THE NEW YORK TIMES has made steady progress, having within six months nearly double[d] its circulation. This growth, while indeed gratifying, serves only to stimulate the management to greater efforts. With a view to the introduction of THE NEW YORK TIMES in homes where it is not now received, where the improvement that has been made may not be known, a plan has been devised to reward those who may assist in the work of increasing its circulation by offering to any man, woman, or child any one of the standard high-grade one hundred-dollar Bicycles, 1897 model, if they will secure one hundred (100) new subscribers for THE NEW YORK TIMES each for three months—$3 if delivered by carrier $1.50 if sent by mail. To make no effort to increase the circulation of THE NEW YORK TIMES may go unrewarded to those who find they cannot secure more than fifty subscribers for three months each, the choice will be given of any fifty-dollar (retail price) bicycle, American manufacture, and to those who in their efforts fall short of fifty subscribers there will be paid 50 cents in cash for every subscriber less than fifty.

Remember you can have your Choice of any Bicycle of American Manufacture.

THE OFFER IN DETAIL.

Any person desiring to undertake the work of securing 100 subscribers should notify THE NEW YORK TIMES, and full instructions and blanks will be furnished. Under no circumstances will a sub-cription be accepted as making up the number required of any person who has been a regular reader of THE NEW YORK TIMES since JAN. 1, 1897. All lists will be investigated, and if it is found that they include the name of any person who has recently been a regular reader, that subscription will not be accepted to make up the list of 100.

It is distinctly understood that all lists of names are subject to verification. All copies of THE NEW YORK TIMES ordered under this plan must be delivered where THE TIMES has not heretofore been received. The offer is intended solely for new subscriptions, and orders from present subscribers of THE NEW YORK TIMES will, under no circumstances, be accepted in making up the required number.

Orders for the delivery of two copies to the same address will not be accepted as two new subscribers. The purpose of THE TIMES is to obtain a wider distribution of its issues in homes where it has not heretofore been delivered.

PLAN OF WORK.

Make up a list of your relatives, friends and acquaintances, only those to whom you are well known. Give their full name and Post Office addresses. When you have the number, write or send to THE NEW YORK TIMES office for that number of letter circulars and subscription blanks. Address and sign the letter circulars inclosing addressed envelope for reply, (THE NEW YORK TIMES will supply them.) Send the signed and addressed letter circulars to THE NEW YORK TIMES, and they will be mailed without cost to you; if you mail them yourself you must affix to each letter a two-cent stamp. By this means you may, without calling in person on your friends, earn your choice of any one-hundred-dollar bicycle.

It is necessary, of course, in order to successfully participate in this work, to have an adequate conception of what kind of a newspaper THE NEW YORK TIMES is. If you are not a reader of THE TIMES, secure a copy, read it carefully, and thus become acquainted with its merits. You will see that THE NEW YORK TIMES is a decent, dignified, enterprising, first-class newspaper. It has always maintained a high standard; it has always stood for what is best in the community; it is not sensational; perpetrates no fakes, and is free of "freaks;" it presents what occurs promptly, fully, and in a manner to interest intelligent men and women. To be seen reading THE NEW YORK TIMES is a stamp of culture and respectability. The story is told of a young man who, when applying for a situation, and asked for reference by his prospective employer, answered simply, "I read THE NEW YORK TIMES." He was accepted in employment at once on the theory that reading a newspaper of the quality of THE NEW YORK TIMES is a certificate of good character.

A FEW FACTS.

A large part of the population of Greater New York consists of men and women of culture and education who scrupulously exclude from their homes sensational newspapers. They want a pure, wholesome newspaper, which, while progressive and entertaining does not defile its pages by repulsive details of scandals and horrible accounts of crime. There is a growing revolt against those newspapers which pander to the depraved, and which inflame the minds of the weak-minded and unthinking by overdrawn tales of vice and immorality. The best men in the community are calling halt on this vicious tendency, and THE NEW YORK TIMES is daily pointed to as an example of what a self-respecting, modern newspaper should be. Secure a copy of the Saturday edition and observe the Supplement, devoted to a review of books and art. Show this to your friends who are readers of the best literature, and they will be interested at once in the attractive contents of this feature. The illustrated Magazine Supplement which accompanies the Sunday edition is a gem of art and literature. It compares favorably with the best ten-cent magazines. A knowledge of these facts will enable you to properly present the merits of THE NEW YORK TIMES to prospective subscribers.

Things worth having are not easily obtained. It requires earnest effort and untiring perseverance to secure 100 subscribers and you may find for the first day or two that the effort is not as easy as you may imagine, but perseverance will surely bring success.

If you desire additional information, write to THE TIMES. All questions will be cheerfully answered. This is a rare opportunity to secure your choice of any of the best one-hundred-dollar bicycles. Sample copies of THE TIMES sent free upon application. Address THE NEW YORK TIMES, New York City.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

A GIRL DRUMMER WHO REPRESENTS A BIG CONCERN.

A Talented Young Woman—Study National Politics—A Fair Field and No Favor For Women—She Will Succeed—Mrs. Zoralda Wallace—Pockets and Buttons.

A girl drummer has come to town, and the most interesting sample inside or outside her baggage is herself.

Miss Byrne is stopping at the Palace hotel, en route for the southern part of the state, where she will doubtless astonish the natives quite as effectively as she has amazed the merchants of San Francisco. Birds of passage in the way of male drummers are as common as swallows, but a girl in the business is a rare bird indeed.

"Come in," said a still, small voice in response to a knock on the door of the girl drummer's room. Dry goods to the right of her, dry goods to the left of her, dry goods all around her, and, in the midst of the display, Miss Byrne herself—a slim little girl in modest gown of black who might be somewhere in the early twenties, but just exactly where, you would not venture to guess. And she is everything that one would imagine a woman drummer not to be.

"How did I happen to go into the business?" repented Miss Byrne in the softest of voices, shaking out the folds of a sample tea gown and arranging it where it would catch the eye to the best advantage. "That is easily answered. I took it up because I saw that there was a future in it for me. I knew I should never amount to anything nor make any money if I stayed behind a counter or held any other of the ordinary positions opened to girls on a few paltry dollars a week. So I determined to strike out for myself.

"Have I succeeded? Well, if selling goods means success, then I have succeeded, and better than anybody thought I would. You see it is one of the few professions that are not overcrowded with women. Yes, I have seen one other in the business, but only one in all my travels. I love the life I am leading. The very uncertainty of it keeps me constantly in a state of pleasurable excitement. There is nothing like it to give zest to one's existence.

"It is delightful to wake up in the morning not knowing what the day may bring forth or where you will sleep that night. Why, it seems to be the only life worth living.

"Yes, I do have some amusing experiences. One is bound to encounter such things when constantly traveling, and especially in my line of business. Do I find my sex a disadvantage? On the contrary. The dealers often tell me that they will give me an order whether they need the goods or not simply for the novelty of dealing with a girl drummer. Everybody is nice to me, but of course one has to be on one's dignity.

"The most amusing incidents of all are the endeavors of my coworkers to give me sage advice," and Miss Byrne's blue eyes twinkled in a way that hinted of her ability to give the rest of the fraternity a few pointers if she chose.

"You have a splendid country out here—a fine field for trade," she continued. "I represent a New York house that deals in women's ready made gowns, and I have had just the best of luck here. My friends were horrified when I started out as a drummer, but it is the coming business for women, and I'm going to stay with it. No, I don't call myself a new woman at all. I fail to see why a girl cannot be just as feminine in my business as though she knitted tidies for a living. Of course she will not be quite as much of a clinging vine, but she will make a whole lot more money. Oh, you need not go for five minutes yet! I have a customer coming at half past the hour."

But at that moment there was a knock at the door, and a well known San Francisco merchant entered with a quizzical but very respectful air. Any commercial traveler will tell you that customers keep drummers waiting, and that sometimes wild horses cannot drag them his way when times are hard. The only exceptions to this rule are made in favor of the drummer who happens to be a girl.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Talented Young Woman.

The award of the bronze medal of the Royal Drawing society of London this year is a matter of enthusiastic interest to young art students all over the world, inasmuch as it was won by a young woman only 16 years of age, Miss Nellie Kuck.

Since the earliest inauguration of offering prizes for the best work among any given artistic line artists of undoubted genius from Canova and Thorwaldsen have entered into eager competition for the advantages which such badges of distinction carry in their train, for where they do not include years of study under most favoring conditions, as they so often do, they bring to an artist instant and widespread recognition, and it ought to serve as a stimulus to the youngest art student in Philadelphia, Boston, New York or Denver that youth is no bar sinister to such honors.

The drawing which obtained for Miss Kuck so distinguished a success is entitled "The Young St. Cecelia," a charmingly composed decorative panel, chiefly interesting by reason of its original and novel manner of treatment.

Perhaps it was her own sweet youth in the blood that led her imagination away from the traditionally mature Cecilia and made it dwell rather upon the heavenly maid when inspiration first dawned upon her youthful consciousness. With a few clever, effective strokes she has achieved the sweetly serious face and pose of the young saint, the well grouped, raptly listening angels above, topped by the conventionalized figures of Music and Poetry. The whole gives evidence of fine poetic fancy, excellent art, and is particularly strong in the decorative harmony of its lines.

Two years ago Miss Kuck was awarded Lord Leighton's prize for her drawing, "The Mermaid," and he then, always so ready to encourage youthful talent, recommended her to adopt the artist's profession.

In fact "The Young St. Cecelia" represents her third success, as last year she obtained the George Kekwich's prize for an illustration of "Undine."—Detroit Free Press.

Study National Politics.

Every woman who feels her duties and responsibilities as a citizen, and who claims a right to a voice in public affairs ought to study the great public questions now under discussion, and especially the question of finance. Every woman who loves her country ought first to make up her own mind on the merits of free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 or upon those of maintaining the existing gold standard and then should try to convince and convert women and men of the opposite opinion. Both parties agree on the vital importance of the issue. Both declare that the honor and happiness and prosperity of the country are at stake. It is criminal for any citizen, woman or man, to stand neutral in so grave a crisis.

In order to form an intelligent judgment I advise every woman to read carefully the Republican and Democratic platforms, adopted respectively at St. Louis and Chicago. Then let her read Mr. Bryan's New York speech and those of George Fred Williams. On the other side, let her read Senator Sherman's Columbus speech and those of Mr. Perry Belmont and Bourke Cockran in reply to Mr. Bryan. After carefully weighing these and other arguments, let her study the history of the country for the past eight years and try to ascertain the causes of the growing business depression.

It is not the province of The Woman's Journal to discuss political questions upon which suffragists are divided. But it is our duty to remind women that the indifference of so many women to such questions of currency, tariff, income tax and federal intervention is the main objection now urged against extending suffrage to women. Let women take an interest in politics, and politicians will soon take an interest in women. Voting is the most important of all political activities, but not the only one. Even without votes women can influence the votes of others and help decide the fate of the nation.—H. B. B. in Boston Woman's Journal.

A Fair Field and No Favor For Women.

No legislative obstacle should be placed in the way of women to bar them out from employments for which they show themselves fitted, and no social prejudice should be allowed to tyrannize where there should be a fair field and no favor.

But what will follow? A rush of women into all the professions, berths and offices hitherto belonging to men? By no means. The strongest forces of nature will still remain to draw women generally in the old directions. A select few, with eminent gifts, will share important positions with the other sex, but the rank and file will find their place in the old spheres. It is well for women to know that marriage is not the only outlet for their lives, but marriage will ever continue to be the outlet for the great majority. "Love's young dream" will not be extinguished. The management of the household will ever be woman's peculiar care. Instincts not to be overcome will continue to draw them to occupations that are peculiarly suited to their strength and their tastes. The functions of maternity will be surrounded with a charm of their own. It may be true that even in physical strength the woman may by training and exercise become the equal of the man. But physiologists all tell us that this can only be achieved apart from the functions of maternity. So long as she exercises these functions her frame as a rule will be more delicate, her strength weaker, her features more refined, her manners more gentle. And these qualities will in some degree be imparted to her daughters. Nature will thus place her barrier against most of the occupations of the other sex. The female character will retain its refinement, its gentleness and its grace. The divine rule, which has given to man the first place in the human family, will suffer no infraction. It will be true that "the head of the woman is the man."—Rev. Professor W. G. Blaikie, D. D., in North American Review.

Room Moldings.

It is often more refreshing to gild moldings in part than to gild them wholly. Thus an inch bead may be divided into short chunks of three inches in length, and alternating gilt and cream color, thus saving half the gold and enhancing the effect. It must, however, be borne in mind that in such a case there must be sufficiently strong confining members of red or other emphatic color to keep the molding rigid, or a loss of repose would result instead of an accession of richness. Curved members should be enriched by the application of straight line ornament, and vice versa. This is a good rule and gives full value for the expenditure of time. Another rule is to put the darker tints on the recessed parts and the lighter on the raised parts, a practice approved by the best taste.—Decorator and Furnisher.

She Will Succeed.

May Burdick has arrived in Berkeley with $50 and a typewriter and announces her intention to enter the university and graduate with the class of 1900. The young lady has no resources other than her small capital and a determination that admits no possibility of defeat, but she will not allow that there is a doubt about her ability to maintain herself at college.

Miss Burdick is a graduate of the Centerville High school. She is staying with Mrs. Gilbert on College way. A number of friends who have become interested in her brave programme have helped her in starting on her college career, and already a good deal of work as typewriter has been sent to her.

Members of the faculty and local business men have become concerned for the success of such brave enterprise and are saving their work for the courageous young lady, so that there is a good prospect that she will succeed. She will do her own cooking and live wholly by her own efforts in the room that she has rented.

Miss Burdick's capital to start with is not enough to buy the books she will need and pay her matriculation expenses. The task she has set before herself is therefore that of earning her entire expenses of four years of college life and at the same time pursuing the studies of a full university course, often declared to be too much for a woman who can give her whole time to it.

The young lady is quite cheerful over the prospect before her. "I have come to Berkeley to enter the university," said she, "and I shall certainly stay." The general impression among those who know her is that she will keep her word.—San Francisco Call.

On the Cat.

"A scientist named Mivart will soon issue a work on the cat," says a literary paper.

We have done that already. It was a heavy copy of Shakespeare's plays, and we issued it from a third story window, and it took her right between the shoulders, and we hope she liked the poetry of motion.—London Tit-Bits.

THE TARIFF BILL.

Difference of Opinion Among Democrats as to the Policy to be Pursued.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—There is some difference of opinion among the Democratic members of the Senate Committee on Finance as to the policy to be pursued in regard to the Tariff bill. Some of them, notably Senator Gorman, are of the opinion that the Democrats should prepare a substitute bill and introduce it. They suggest that this substitute should embody the Democratic idea as to the tariff, giving uniformly lower rates than the Republican bill, either as prepared in the House or as amended by the Senate Committee on Finance. They contend that the Wilson law is not a clear embodiment of Democratic tariff doctrine, in that it not only does not produce sufficient revenue, but that it carries many features which were inserted at the instance of Republican Senators in order to secure its passage through the Senate. There is, however, quite pronounced opposition to this programme on the part of many Democratic Senators, including several members of the Committee on Finance. They take the position that the safest course for the party is to stand by the Wilson bill, which, while it is not perfect, is still a Democratic measure. The party, they say, has taken the position that no tariff legislation is necessary. The campaign was fought on another issue and they hold that to raise the tariff question on their own motion would be inconsistent and unwise.

Those who hold to this idea are willing that amendments should be offered covering all the schedules and it seems probable that this course will be pursued.

The amendments will provide rates practically on the line of the Wilson law.

SOUTHERN PORTS.

A Large Increase in the Value of Exports as Compared with Last Year.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—A large increase in the value of exports from South Atlantic and Gulf cities for the nine months ending March, of this year, compared with the same period of 1895-96, is announced in a statement compiled from statistics of the principal ports. The city of Baltimore shows an increase of 31 per cent.; Brunswick, Ga., 21.1 per cent.; Charleston, S. C., 32 per cent.; Newport News, Va., 50 per cent.; Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va., 200 65 per cent.; Savannah, Ga., 13.9 per cent.; Wilmington, N. C., 33.1 per cent.; Galveston, Tex., 66.1 per cent.; New Orleans, La., 35 per cent.; Pensacola, Fla., 145 66 per cent.; Tampa, Fla., 51.8 per cent.

While the increase at Wilmington and one or two points are due in a measure to the cotton crop, the phenomenal increase at Norfolk and Portsmouth and Pensacola, as well as the increase at Newport News and Galveston are due to the exporting of grain, provisions and live stock from the West and Northwest by way of these cities. While the increase in value from all ports in the United States during the nine months ending March, 1897, was 21 per cent., and from North Atlantic ports 13 per cent., the increase from the South Atlantic ports, from Delaware to Florida, was 27 and for the Gulf ports, 39 per cent.

EXPRESS CAR ROBBED.

Over $5,000 Taken from Safes of the Wells Fargo Company on a Southern Pacific Train.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, May 14.—The west-bound Southern Pacific passenger train was held up by masked men and robbed about 250 miles west of here early this morning. As the train pulled out of the little town of Lozier, three men jumped on the platform and pointing pistols at the engineer and fireman, compelled the former to stop the train about one and a half miles west of the town. After forcing the doors of the express car, one of the robbers entered and dynamited the two safes of the Wells Fargo Express Company. Both the through and the local safe were opened and their contents secured. The local safe contained $3 000 or $2,000. The amount secured from the through safe is unknown but it is believed it will not fall below $7,000 or $6,000. The express car was badly wrecked by the dynamite. The mail car was not molested by the robbers, but it was greatly damaged by the force of the explosion. Officers are in pursuit of the men, who went northward. It is claimed that they are part of a gang that came into this section recently from New Mexico.

THE CUBAN QUESTION

DISCUSSED AT A CABINET MEETING YESTERDAY.

It Will Probably be the Subject of a Message to Congress Next Week—Every Consular Office in Cuba Cabled to for Exact Information on the Status of Affairs.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—President McKinley has under earnest consideration the advisability of sending a message to Congress next week on the Cuban question, but has not yet come to a decision in the matter, though he is at present inclined to send to the legislative branch a communication suggesting that measures be adopted to relieve the distress among Americans resident in Cuba.

The message, if it goes in, will be entirely pacific in tone, and it can be stated on good authority will not be of a war-like tenor. In order to have the facts on which to base a message, Mr. McKinley has had cablegrams sent to every consular officer in Cuba asking each of them to give exact information as to the status of affairs in his district and to telegraph replies at once. It was understood to-day by some members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations that this information no doubt would be communicated to the Senate, but whether it would be accompanied by a message recommending action was yet a matter of doubt.

The meeting of the Cabinet to-day was devoted almost entirely to the consideration of the Cuban situation. The meeting occurred an hour earlier than usual, owing to the importance of the question to be discussed and the fact that the President and the Cabinet were leaving for Philadelphia at 12 45. The Cabinet discussion of the Cuban situation to-day was upon the advisability of asking Congress to provide immediate relief to the Americans who are, according to the reports received from Consul General Lee, penned up in the cities and in actual danger of starvation. It had no bearing upon the policy of the administration toward Spain or the Cuban insurgents, except incidentally, but dealt with the direct and immediate question of relieving destitute Americans on the island. Secretary Sherman laid before the Cabinet some of the most important documents in the State Department about the situation, and before the meeting was over Judge Day, the assistant Secretary of State, personally took to the White House some additional papers for which the secretary had sent. Every phase of the matter was discussed, the advisability of asking Congress for an appropriation, Spain's attitude, the methods for distributing relief if it should be decided to enter upon it, the necessity or advisability of having a war ship accompany food supplies. But the final decision of the question was postponed until Consul General Lee and other American consuls in Cuba, and probably Mr. Calhoun, make their reports by cable to the department. They have been requested to cable the latest facts as to the existing situation. The reports will be here probably when the President and the Cabinet return to-morrow night.

It seems extremely probable now that a message will be sent to Congress, but hardly before Tuesday, as there would be no time to prepare it before that day unless Mr. McKinley devoted Sunday to the task.

The Spanish minister, Dupuy de Lome, called at the State Department shortly before noon to-day and conferred for some time with Assistant Secretary Day relative to the reported intention of this Government to send relief to the American sufferers in Cuba. The minister gave assurance that the Spanish Government would be in entire sympathy with any benevolent movement and would lend every assistance to it. The Spanish minister does not question the existence of misery and suffering in the island, but declares that it is such only as accompanies insurrection and war, heightened in this case by the diseases peculiar to low tropical countries. It is stated that these conditions have existed for several months, and have been well known. As to the severity of the suffering, it is said that it consists mainly in the lack of adequate food, medicine and nursing for the sick and destitute.

The conference lasted for over an hour and was confined entirely to a discussion of the extension of relief measures. No objection was made in behalf of the Spanish Government to the supplying of food, medicine and clothing to the distressed Americans in Cuba, but it was clearly understood that the relief is to be extended only to American citizens through agencies not yet decided upon. The Spanish authorities have not recorded any objection on their part to a general distribution, provided this is not carried to the extent of provisioning the insurgent forces in their resistance to Spain. On this point it can be stated positively that it is the present idea of the administration that it will have fulfilled all of its proper functions when it has cared for its own citizens.

The fact that the Senate was not in session to-day and that comparatively few Senators were at the Capitol had a quieting effect upon the situation in regard to Cuban affairs. There was still, however, much interest in the course that the matter may take on Monday.

Senator Morgan said to-day that the message of the President, if it should apply only to relief measures in the way of food and clothing, would not cause him to deviate from his purpose of pressing his resolution for the recognition of a state of war, as he had given notice he would do before it was assumed that the President would send in such a message.

The friends of the Morgan resolution will not antagonize measures contemplating temporary relief, but they are not disposed to accept such measures in place of a more general and far-reaching declaration.

BROKER CHAPMAN

Will Begin His Sentence to Imprisonment Next Monday.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Broker Elverton R. Chapman, of New York city, will surrender himself to United States Marshal Wilson at 8 o'clock next Monday afternoon. Positive assurance to this effect was given District Attorney Davis by Chapman's counsel. Chapman will then be escorted immediately to the District jail and begin his sentence of thirty days for refusing to answer the Sugar trust investigating committee's questions three years ago. With the five day's rebate for good conduct, Mr. Chapman will spend only twenty-five days in jail and he will get the benefit of the usual jail privileges.

FIGHTING IN EPIRUS.

IT WAS A DESPERATE BATTLE BUT INDECISIVE.

The Situation Virtually Unchanged—The Sultan Will Not Agree to an Armistice Until the Heats of Peace Has Been Submitted to Him.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ARTA, May 14.—8 p. m.—Desperate fighting has been in progress all day near Griboro, on the road to Filippiada. Two brigades of Greeks with many guns, two companies of sappers and a squadron of cavalry attacked the Turks, who were almost without artillery. The Greeks forced the first Turkish line of defence, but met with a stubborn resistance at the second. Already 500 of the Greeks are hors de combat. The battle still continues as this dispatch is being sent.

DOMOKOS, May 14.—7 p. m.—The Turks have retired in the direction of Pharsalos.

ARTA, May 14—9 p. m.—The fighting at Griboro has ceased and the Greeks have occupied various heights in the neighborhood. Twenty-five officers and four hundred men are hors de combat. The battle will be resumed to-morrow.

Since 4 o'clock p. m. the gunboat flotilla has been attacking Nicopolis from inside the gulf of Ambracia, with a simultaneous attack proceeding from the lake side. The Turkish batteries replied vigorously and firmly resisted the attack. The coming on of darkness stopped the engagement. All the Greek efforts are now concentrated upon capturing Nicopolis and Prevesa before advancing to Pentepighadia.

LONDON, May 14.—The correspondent of the Times at Athens says: "The resumption of offensive operations in Epirus greatly complicates the situation and tends to hamper the negotiations for peace. The evident intention of the Greek commanders is to capture the Turkish positions there in order to show that they have not been defeated.

"In an interview to-day M. Ralli, the Premier, repeated his statement that humanitarian motives are responsible for the advance in Epirus, but he did not deny the advantages which might be hoped for from the capture of Prevesa and the occupation of the adjoining Turkish territory.

"'We are still at war,' he said, 'and until an armistice is concluded Greece retains her liberty of action. We cannot allow our activity to be confined to Thessaly where the Turks are preponderant. The Powers have hindered us from acting in Crete; but Greece cannot be barred everywhere nor compelled to restrict her operations to a limited area.'

"'We have done our best to obtain an armistice, and until it is accorded we must act where and when we can. If we have not already prosecuted the war at various points and among the islands of the Ægean sea it is only because we have taken into consideration the sufferings to which the Greek population might be subjected.'

"The Government apparently thinks that a renewal of the war will hasten forward instead of retard the armistice. This calculation may prove to be correct, but it is more likely that Turkey will seize upon it as an excuse for delaying the armistice and will deal a crushing blow in Thessaly."

LONDON, May 14.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "The Sultan, acting upon the advice of Emperor William, has declared to M. Cambon, the French ambassador, that he cannot agree to granting an armistice until the basis of peace has been decided upon and approved by him."

LONDON, May 14.—Except for the fighting in Epirus the Turco-Hellenic situation is virtually unchanged from what it was yesterday. It is tolerably certain that only a few Greek troops remain in Domokos, the bulk of Constantine's army having withdrawn to Lamia, where it will be in closer communication with General Smolenski. This probably explains the reported movements of the Turkish army, as a number of Edhem Pasha's troops have been marching from Trikkala to Volo. Without doubt the respite of the feast of Bairam is very welcome to the fatigued men.

The fighting at Epirus has been indecisive. It is believed that Nicopolis is not yet captured, but only the heights commanding the town. The Greeks made a pretext of the protection of the peasants, but they evidently have information as to the reasons for the apparent inactivity of the Turks in Epirus. This is the seventh time the Greeks have attempted to advance to Janina and have met with a repulse which the Turks have never followed up.

Evidently there is something wrong with the Turkish forces at that point. The recent report that a number of officers were taken from Janina to Constantinople in chains may, perhaps, explain it; or possibly Turkey is holding her forces there through fear of a movement from Bulgaria.

BARNARD'S AIR-SHIP

Made Another Trip from the Exposition Grounds at Nashville.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NASHVILLE, May 14.—Prof. Barnard attempted another voyage with his air-ship yesterday afternoon. It soared aloft rapidly and as Prof. Barnard vigorously worked the bicycle pedals of his steering and propelling attachment the air-ship turned around several times, but was drifting with the wind. It passed over the Centennial grounds, floated rapidly over the city at a high altitude in a northeasterly direction and passed out of sight. At about 7.30 o'clock the machine landed near Madison, about twelve miles east of this city.

"I find that I can manipulate the machine right or left even in a light wind," said Prof. Barnard. "This is certain. It can go directly against a wind of eight miles an hour with muscular power as at present arranged, but by cutting across obliquely I can make progress in the direction desired."

Further trips with changes in apparatus will be made.

FLORIDA'S SENATOR.

Ex-Congressman Stephen R. Mallory Elected on the 25th Ballot.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TALLAHASSEE, May 14.—Ex-Congressman Stephen R. Mallory, of Pensacola, was elected United States Senator to-day, the vote on the 25th ballot of the contest that began on April 20th, standing: Mallory, 53, W. D. Chipley, 44; Call, 1.

Senator Mallory spoke before a large gathering in the House of Representatives to-night. He said that he indorsed all of the planks of the Chicago platform, dwelling particularly on the financial question and advocating the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 regardless of foreign countries. He did not express decided views on the tariff question.

The total bank clearings for the week amounted to $1 008,409,499; per cent. decrease, 1.8; exclusive of New York, $447,806,803; per cent; decrease 4.

STATE OF TRADE.

DUN'S REVIEW OF THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

Advance in Wheat, Corn, Cotton and Some Other Products—Wool and Sugar Lower—Imports of Merchandise Larger.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, May 14.—R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow will say:

Speculators have enjoyed an advance in wheat, corn, cotton and some other products, though obliged to sell wool and sugar at lower figures in order to realize. Stocks have advanced seven cents per $100, and trust stocks lost 38 cents without enough demand to constitute a market. Imports of merchandise, $18 882,019 for the week at New York alone, are 94 per cent. larger than a year ago, making the increase 47 per cent. for the past six weeks and have affected the exchange markets and helped further shipments of gold, which amount for the week to $3,750,000, but are practically balanced by receips from the interior, and cause no serious apprehension of financial disturbance. Men feel that present conditions are only temporary, although they tend to prevent immediate improvement in general trade and hinder immediate investments.

The Government crop report estimates cotton acreage at 6 per cent. less than last year, and is considered encouraging because so slight a decrease from the floods may easily be made up. Prices have advanced an eighth on Liverpool speculation, with nothing here to warrant the rise.

The Winter wheat report, which is supposed to indicate a yield of 297,000,000 bushels, is contrasted with State reports much better or much worse, but is distrusted mainly because all department estimates of acreage for years have been wildly erroneous. Western receipts continue larger than last year, 9,109,128 bushels, against 1,890,867 a year ago, and Atlantic exports also increase, amounting for two weeks in May to 3,106,909 bushels, flour included, against 2,083,414 last year.

Exports of corn are still large, 5,586,855 bushels for two weeks against 3,004,161 last year, and in part account for the smaller demand for wheat.

The output of pig iron for the week ending May 1st was 168,538 tons, against 178,379 April 1st, and the stocks unsold, exclusive of those held by the great steel making companies, increased only 8,808,000 tons.

Nothing new can be said of cotton manufactures, which still lack demand enough to lift print cloths above the lowest point ever known, and prices of other grades of cottons do not improve. In general the sales of cotton products are but moderate.

Woollen goods are doing better than for weeks past, and yet there is not enough demand to create enthusiasm or to raise prices, while there is great uncertainty regarding the future of the market. Sales of wool have sharply decreased and for the week barely exceeded a week's consumption, while prices are weaker at Eastern markets, according to some reports nearly one cent per pound at Philadelphia, and at the West the heavy buyers for speculation have begun to sell at some concessions with good reason.

Failures for the week were 364 in the United States, against 234 last year, and 31 in Canada, against 33 last year.

WARM WIRELETS.

Former United States Senator Richard Coke died yesterday at Waco, Texas. His remains will be embalmed and lie in state at the mansion until Sunday at 10 a. m., when the funeral will take place.

The United States gunboat Nashville, covered the sixty mile course on her official trip yesterday in three hours, thirty-five minutes and twenty-nine seconds, averaging 16.7 knots and winning a bonus of $60,000 for her builders.

At Rosebud, Texas, Thursday night three negroes, were taken from the officers and hanged. They had been confined in the jail there several days on a charge of attempted rape, thier victim being a daughter of William Coates, white.

Growing Girls.

Growing girls from 14 to 18 have a mental life which can only be worked out in development. They pass by easy stages through thoughts and aspirations and ideals through which the mother passed in her own day, and which she has probably forgotten.

If a young girl claims an hour or two of solitude each day, her wish should be regarded. It is possible to have a settled time for the family mending and the market basket, so that these skeletons may not intrude themselves at her feast. Family correspondence is another right often disregarded. It is even a question in the minds of many parents as to whether the letters received by young girls and boys should not be opened and read by the "old folks."

This is radically wrong. The merest mite of a baby resents distrust. The first and fundamental mistake which mothers make in child training is the appearance of doubting a child's word. There is no reason why the father or mother should not know precisely from whom letters are received if they desire. But the way to arrive at this is to ask. In ninety-nine cases—if not the hundredth itself—the answer will be truthfully given.

Learn to Grow Old Gracefully,

There is a most admirable lesson contained in the following extract from Hannah More's "Strictures on the Modern System of Female Education:" "Since, then, there is a season when the youthful must cease to be young and the beautiful to excite admiration, to learn to grow old gracefully is perhaps one of the rarest and most beautiful acts that can be taught to woman. And it must be confessed it is a most severe trial for those women to lay down their beauty who have nothing else to take up. It is for this sober season of life that education should lay up its rich resources. However disregarded they may have been, they will be wanted now. When admirers fall away and flatterers become mute, the mind will be driven to retire within itself, and if it finds no entertainment at home it will be driven back again upon the world with increased force. Yet, forgetting this, do we not seem to educate our daughters exclusively for the transient period of youth, when it is to matures life we ought to advert? Do we not educate for a crowd, forgetting that they are to live at home—for a crowd and not for themselves, for show and not for use, for time and not for eternity?"

A Fallacy.

"I am called a clever man, so I am a living contradiction of the idea that men of education and intelligence do not marry women similarly endowed," said a successful author recently. "That a clever woman does not make a good wife is one of the most ridiculous of fallacies. There is nothing in life that a clever woman cannot and will not do better than a stupid one. Education develops a woman's power in every direction and makes her more capable of directing a household and constructing a pudding than she would be without it. The educated woman who imperfectly performs her duties in life would not have fulfilled them better, but much worse, if her mind had received no training. And the badly informed girl who cooks a good dinner and mends her husband's socks would do both a great deal better if her powers of mind and of intelligence had been cultivated and brought to bear on her daily work."—New York Advertiser.

His Fear.

"Were you afraid I would say no?" asked she who had just said yes.

"No," said he who had been made happy. "I was afraid I'd make a fool of myself—that you'd say no and then tell Sue Jones all about it, thus spoiling my chances with her."—Pearson's Weekly.

DEPT. OF INTERIOR.

Chief Donoghue Also Benefited by Paine's Celery Compound.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—In all the departments at Washington Paine's celery compound has become the office expression for an ideal invigorator when one is "run down" by overwork, confining duties, or any of the many causes that result in ill health.

Here is what a prominent official in the Department of the Interior says of Paine's celery compound:

Department of the Interior,
General Land Office.

It affords me much pleasure to state that Paine's celery compound has been to me an excellent spring remedy, and particularly beneficial to the nervous system and digestive organs. I cordially commend its use.

M. F. DONOGHUE,
Chief of Contest Division.

Among the thousands of voluntary letters of acknowledgement for the benefit derived from Paine's celery compound, there have already been published in the Washington papers testimonials from men representing every department of the national goverement—not only from many of the best known Congressmen, but from hosts of hard-working clerks unknown outside of their immediate circle of friends. Some of those who have voluntarily indorsed Paine's celery compound are:

Congressman Powers of Vermont.
Congressman Meredith of Virginia.
Congressman Bell of Colorado.
Congressman Neill of Arkansas.
Congressman Wilber of New York.
Congressman Grout of Vermont.
Congressman Otey of Virginia.
Mr. Carlisle's Private Secretary.
Hon. William R. Smith, Supt. U. S. Botanical Garden.
Maj.-Gen. Birney.
Commodore Howell.
Lieut. C. A. McAllister.
Hon. F. H. Stickney, U. S. Navy.

Paine's celery compound builds up the "run down" health in a sure, uninterrupted, steadfast fashion from which there can be no relapse. It wipes out unhealthy humors from the blood, opens up the skin and makes it do its full share in purifying the blood. This cleansing the blood through and through is one of the unfailing accomplishments of Paine's celery compound.

From a life-long contact with the many forms of nervous debility and impure blood, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D. LL. D., of the Dartmouth medical school, was led to the discovery of Paine's celery compound as the crowning achievement of an extraordinarily active and successful life.

No acceptable substitute for Paine's celery compound exists. Each year further accumulates evidence of the unequaled capacity of this greatest of all known remedies for restoring health and vigor.

Now that spring has come, nerves, blood and vital organs cannot remain clogged by poisonous humors nor starved by overwork and lack of sleep without great risk. Paine's celery compound is the most intelligent, wisest means anyone can employ for driving out disease and restoring a healthy tone to the entire system.
